Police Break Up Burglary Ring

Four Carmel High School seniors have been booked in connection with a series of 31 burglaries committed within the last six months on the Peninsula.

The youths, all 17, are Jim Bellvill, Michael Faber, Karl V. Palustrine and Richard C. Wilkerson.

Police Chief Clyde Klaumann said yesterday that another four boys have been booked on lesser charges.

The loot, all jammed into the tight quarters of the Carmel Police Station on Tuesday, included three television sets, five radios of assorted types, numerous old and possibly rare books, old newspapers including some rare first editions, stamp collections, stock certificates, three antique clocks, an old wall telephone, some coal oil lamps, old maps, flashlights, fire extinguishers, records, record players and speakers, binoculars, tools, clothing, a shotgun, a rifle, a tire and wheel, a branding iron, two highway signs, artist's supplies, old playing cards and large quantities of liquor.

Two carloads of the items were recovered from the home of one of the youngsters. Police said that a console record player stolen from a house in Carmel was taken to Hurricane Point and thrown down a 300-foot cliff into the sea when it was decided by the thief that it was of no value to himself. Other items were reportedly thrown off Bixby Creek bridge.

Police reported that the burglaries were from homes, stores, garages and cars on the Peninsula. In addition, others took place in Corralitos, Yosemite, Garrapata Canyon and Carmel Valley.

One of the stolen books in the collection of loot had a title which may be prophetic. It is called "A Book of Remarkable Criminals."

Band Uniforms Drive And A Siss-Boom-Bah

Oompah, oompah, oompah. The Carmel High School Band will give a very important concert at Sunset Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. May 30. Important because the proceeds from the sale of tickets will go toward the purchase of new uniforms.

Oompah, oompah, oompah. Why do they need new uniforms? Cause the beat-up, shaggy, baggy, raggy uniforms they now have are 14 years old, that's why. Parents of band members have cleaned, pressed, mended, taken in, let out, repaired, refurbished and all but remade these garments until there are patches on patches on patches.

Oompah, oompah, oompah. But the proceeds from the concert won't be nearly enough. To buy the 60 uniforms for the anticipated band members for next fall will cost nearly $6,000, almost $100 each. There are no funds in the school budget for these. Thus, acquiring them is a community project. All service clubs will be asked to help. Businesses will be requested to purchase a uniform and individuals may contribute.

Oompah, oompah, oompah. These youngsters go all over the state to represent our community. Besides playing at football games and the like, they are frequently asked up to the bay area to play at the universities there. The appearance they make reflects on all of us. If you'd like to see that

MAYOR MOVES TO FIGHT JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

Mayor Herb Blanks last night called for immediate and positive action from the city council in providing leadership to combat juvenile delinquency.

He said that in recent years he had shared a feeling of complacency with many other residents of Carmel about the absence of this problem in our community. But, he pointed out, the shocking events of this week, which saw children of respected citizens involved in a series of at least 31 separate burglaries, have made it apparent that action is required now.

He was given the green light by other members of the Council to move to set up a committee of local agencies and officials to combat the problem. The committee is to be composed of at least the following: the mayor, police commissioner and chief of police of Carmel, the Monterey County Sheriff, the probation officer of the County of Monterey, the judge of the Monterey Municipal Court, the president of the Board of Trustees of the Carmel Unified School District and the superintendent, the principals of the junior high and high schools and the presidents of the schools' student bodies, the president of the board of the Carmel Youth Center and representatives of the press on the Peninsula.

Police Chief Clyde Klaumann said, when asked about the proposal, that "This is a problem for the whole area. Only one of the four offenders in these burglaries live in our jurisdiction. Furthermore, we have no jurisdiction at the high school or the junior high."

"The most wholesome thing about this, if there is anything wholesome about it," Councilman Norberg stated, "is that we are now ready to consider such action."

Expert Opinion

On Tree Problem

Little additional information appears available this week concerning the damage to the trees and shrubbery along Scenic Drive. No report has yet been received from the panel of experts which visited the city last week.

One authority who was questioned on the problem concurred with the opinion of Hugh Smith, local tree surgeon and member of the Carmel Planning Commission.

It was his opinion that the browning effect on the windward side of the plants was caused by windburn. The effect was more noticeable this year, he said, because of a combination of factors. These factors include, low soil moisture, low temperatures and high winds, carrying large amounts of salt.

The ability of the plants to transpire, or breathe, is retarded by the low temperatures and the low soil moisture content further prevents the plant from "washing" the salt off its leaves, blown there by the high winds.

It should be borne in mind, he added, that cypress trees are not native to Scenic Drive. They were all planted there since the turn of the century. At that time there was nothing but a large number of sand hills running down to the beach.

"Our beautiful, artistically twisted cypress trees," he pointed out, "got their shapes from exactly this process," adding that the trees growing inland are fully rounded because there is no salt spray retarding the growth in one direction.

He suggested that property owners not trim the dead portion of the trees, since by that very process they make more parts of the trees accessible to the saline winds.

Senator Barry Goldwater will speak on "Issues of our times" at Colton Hall in Monterey at 12 noon, Tues., May 26. He will be introduced by Senator William Knowland.

Part of the loot recovered by the Carmel Police Department following the breakup of a gang of youthful burglars is shown crammed into the city's tiny police station. More is out of sight in photo, and still more was brought in later.

Council Talks — And Talks and Talks

Carmel's City Council, in a marathon talkfest, just about talked to death an appeal by 22 electors of a decision by the planning commission. The appeal was asking that the council review the decision, which asserted that developer Jack Miller not be required to provide off-street parking for his proposed 14 shops and motion picture theater planned for San Carlos and Eighth.

The planning group's stated reason for not requiring parking under the interim ordinance was that they had given design review approval of the plans before the ordinance became effective. It was pointed out, however, that the report on which the ordinance was based was public knowledge before the plans were approved. City Attorney John Morse stated that his office had issued an opinion that a builder has no vested interest until a building permit has been issued and construction has actually started.

Finally, after 90 minutes of wrangling, the matter was remanded to the Planning Commission for reconsideration under the interim ordinance.

The council also examined a proposed ordinance which would make the possession of alcoholic beverages on the beach a misdemeanor. An examination of the existing law and the proposed revision pointed out that up until now it has been illegal to hold communion services in churches. It was also revealed that drinking spirituous beverages in restaurants presently is illegal.

A petition bearing 43 signatures and asking for the repeal of the section of the code prohibiting consumption of alcoholic beverages on the beach was apparently ignored. In any case, the ordinance, together with the proposed revision, was sent to committee

Feathers... From the Shaft

By Harry the Fletcher

No. 56

We live our daily lives in chaos, unaware that day will follow night; the rains will fall. And deer will walk the mountain trail, as on the air the shrill, sweet note of guardian quail will call.

Each evening now wild pigeons come to drink, and swoop from tall madrones on angel wings, while we poor mortals stand as poised upon the brink of indecisions — while the songbird sings.

The lord of all creation, Man, yet lives in doubt of each tomorrow — fearful of his ghost — and wastes his high inheritance aghast, without responding to the promptings of his Host.

Omit me not as numbered with this creven crowd — I'd fain be basking near some sunny lake, and find me unnumbered as I wish out loud I didn't have this fearsome tummy ache.

DOWN TO THE SEA

BY LES BOSSHARDT, Master Mariner

"I must go down to the seas again,
To the lonely sea and the sky." — MASEFIELD

THE MARINA COMES OF AGE

About a month ago the 40-foot yawl "NAUTILUS" arrived at the marina from a southern California port in transit to Seattle. She was manned by a south coast delivery crew making the delivery to Seattle for her owner, a Mr. Bryan. For one reason or another her crew left the vessel in the marina and returned south. The reason for this exodus is not known by anyone to whom I have talked. Well, here is where our marina's versatility and service to the mariner showed itself. A delivery crew of Monterey boaters took over the delivery from here to Seattle, leaving the marina for the north early Monday morning. These seagoing volunteers who are making this not too easy voyage are, Ray Overton, who sailed his Block Island ketch from Tahiti to Monterey about a year ago—Overton is a finished navigator—Bud Lindsey, who sailed his small converted lifeboat from Seattle to Monterey, a year or so ago, and Don Caven, formerly a Monterey fireman who will sail his small sloop south to Santa Barbara when he returns from the present voyage. It seems to me that the boater can get about any maritime service in our marina. We have surely grown. Fair winds, Hearties.

FROM THE PILOT HOUSE

Left high and dry on the beach to the east side of Wharf 2, lay a bull sea lion, from all appearances sunning himself. This fellow was huge. I would guess his weight at over twelve hundred pounds. Very few full grown sea lions are left on the beach by a receding tide, so something had to be wrong with this fellow. He lay only a few yards from the pilot house, so I had to have a look. Sure enough this fellow had a pretty bad wound on his head, apparently caused by being struck by the propeller of a large ship.

He was breathing when I saw him but one could see he was not going to last long. After a few minutes a police officer showed up and I understand the poor lion was put out of his misery. Harbor-master Bowhay's men dug a grave at the low water mark and buried this sea citizen as close to his element as possible. A fitting gesture for an old timer of the sea.

THEY KNOW US IN HELSINKI

I was surprised this evening when the publisher of the small book on the magnetic compass (authored by the writer about a year and a half ago) told me the book was ordered by the library in Helsinki, Finland. I thought he was putting me on and likewise he thought I was playing tricks on him. I have not been to Helsinki in over 40 years and, try as I may, I can think of no one who would know me in any part of Finland. Well at least the little book is the cause of some tiny commerce between the port of Monterey and the port of Helsinki. I have been walking around with a little glow since I heard the news. Some kind of false pride, I guess.

BOATING, BOATING, BOATING

One of the busiest men at the Marina these days is Ed Muniz, the owner of the MONTEREY YACHT CENTER on Wharf 2. Class after class in sailing and, of course, some of the students are buying sailing craft from Ed. He works on a fine principle, he readies his buyers for their boats by training them in the rudiments of sailing. He is the only one that I know of on this coast who takes such an interest in the prospective boater. I salute you, Ed. You are doing a good job in the cause of safe boating. More and more people are going down to the sea for recreation; it must be made safe for them.

WEATHERWISE

A high pressure system is centered over this part of the state extending about 1,000 miles off shore. A weak low front is moving eastward across the Pacific bringing some rain to Washington, Oregon and possibly northern California by Friday. For the weekend locally there should be early morning fog or mist Saturday clearing by noon. Evening fog is a possibility Saturday also. There is a chance of some rain reaching this area some time Sunday. Temperatures Saturday should reach a maximum high or 67 degrees Fahrenheit by mid afternoon, cooler temperatures Sunday.

NAUTICAL KNOW-HOW

When in fog, make it a habit to slow your vessel's headway and make the required whistle signals. Your speed should be such that you can be stopped in half the distance of your visibility.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

In case you are writing a book, and almost everyone is, we have for you a revised edition of Marjorie Skillin's book Words Into Type. Subtitle of the book is A Guide in the Preparation of Manuscripts; for Writers, Editors, Proofreaders and Printers. There is a chapter on the various responsibilities of writers, and another on punctuation and grammar. Final chapter is on the use of words and included therein is a handy list of trite expressions, where this librarian discovered several much-used combinations. This is a book to own if you do much writing. So it might be well to add that it is published by Appleton and costs $7.50. All books are expensive.

Jack Raymond is a reporter for the New York Times and its Washington bureau, and has just done a book on the Pentagon. It is entitled Power At the Pentagon, and in it the author describes the Pentagon as the greatest power center the world has ever known. He outlines its history, discusses the "McNamara Monarchy," and ends by answering such questions as: Are military professionals a danger to us? and Do we see ourselves as others see us?

Dropping back a century in reporting, we have Palace and Novel by Daniel Kirwan. This fascinating book was first published in 1870 and has been edited and reprinted this year with many of the original illustrations. It is an account of a year spent in London sometime in the late 1860's, and the author felt it his duty and privilege to take his readers into "places which they might shrink from visiting alone." This is then a description of London slums, saloons, brothels, flop-houses, night courts, and sporting affairs. The graphic illustrations are interesting and the reader finds himself in no danger of being corrupted by the scenes described, for Reporter Kirwan preaches constantly of the results of such corruption.

Jose Gironella has had an enviable career as a novelist. His latest book is a collection of stories and sketches of psychic experiences which he had over a period of two years. These are visions, hallucinatory experiences filled with weird images. The book is called Phantoms and Fugitives. A good book to read in broad daylight.

The press of the University of Chicago is publishing a series of books on the folklore of various countries. We have two ones new this week. The first is by Keigo Seki and is entitled Folktales of Japan. The other is by Dov Noy and bears the title Folktales of Israel.

Wind IN THE Pines

BY DON MARSHALL

A local wag has suggested that the sad state of our trees along Scenic may be blamed upon the recent action of the city council.

This wit suggests that the ghosts of Jimmy Hopper and George Sterling have visited a damnation upon our greenery in retaliation for the city solons' decision to ban the consumption of heady drink on the sand.

The humorist says the decision is: "Grog or greenery, take your pick."

Regarding that decision of the council, a petition is being circulated in town, asking the council to repeal that section of the law which forbids the tipple of hoary tradition.

Salvation Army Drive Launched Here

The annual Salvation Army drive for contributions needed to maintain its welfare services for Monterey Peninsula residents was launched this week.

Chairman of the campaign is John M. Marble, Carmel Valley cattle rancher.

The Salvation Army operates on the Peninsula through Service Unit Committees in Monterey, Carmel, Pacific Grove and Seaside. These groups are composed of business, professional and civic leaders who volunteer their services. Working in cooperation with other welfare agencies, as well as the schools and police departments, they meet emergency and supplementary welfare needs when public assistance is unavailable or inadequate.

Among Peninsula residents taking an active part in the drive are: Mrs. Earl Dewar and Police Chief Clyde Klaumann, Carmel; George W. Decker, Mrs. Viola Frisbee, Harold J. MacLean, Police Chief Frank C. Marenillo and Mark Thomas, all of Monterey, and Dr. William H. Forestelle, Seaside.

Campaign treasurers are: James G. Bannerman, Wells Fargo Bank, P.O. Box 2561, Carmel (for Carmel, Carmel Valley and Pebble Beach areas), and John A. Kern, Wells Fargo Bank, P.O. Box 471, Monterey (for Marina, Monterey, Pacific Grove and Seaside areas).

Carmel contributors may send checks or give directly to Mr. James Bannerman with the assurance that all contributions collected will be used for local activities of the Salvation Army.

By referral, the committees also make available to local residents the statewide and regional services of The Salvation Army such as: homes and hospitals for unmarried mothers, correctional services for inmates of jails and prisons and for parolees; alcoholic rehabilitation for men at 20 centers throughout California, summer camps for underprivileged children, emergency disaster relief, missing persons bureau and officers' training school.

The Salvation Army has developed a "budget and quota plan," based on population and income, which indicates "fair share" financial support of the statewide services for each California community. "Fair share" support here must be raised by the campaign now under way, since The Salvation Army receives no funds from the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest.

California has far more motorcycles than any other state with more than 106,000 registered.

The SUR COAST

By Elizabeth Fuller Jones

The one-man show of the works of Robert Ronnie Branaman, artist, of Big Sur, were enthusiastically received at a reception held at the Coast Gallery, Saturday.

John R. Williams

Robert Ronnie Branaman

We regret that the name under the photograph, accompanying the article about this show, which appeared in last week's issue, was not correct. That picture was of John R. Williams, photographer of Monterey, who has spent much time during the past weeks, photographing the various works of art at the Gallery, for Mrs. LaVerne Allen, owner-curator.

In correction we repeat the picture of Williams on this page. Also shown is a picture of Artist Branaman, taken during the reception for the artist, at the Gallery.

Other officers installed were, Mrs. John Frey, vice-president; Mrs. Francis J. Sparolini, secretary; and Mrs. John Francis Doud, treasurer.

Meetings will not resume until late summer, but the members will hold their annual luncheon at the Sans Souci restaurant on June 11.

New Officers Carmel Mission Altar Society

Mrs. Kenneth C. White was installed as president of the Carmel Mission Basilica Altar Society for the year 1964-65 at the closing meeting of the year held last Thursday in the Villa Angelica.

Other officers installed were, Mrs. John Frey, vice-president; Mrs. Francis J. Sparolini, secretary; and Mrs. John Francis Doud, treasurer.

Meetings will not resume until late summer, but the members will hold their annual luncheon at the Sans Souci restaurant on June 11.

Demonstration: Flowers That Bloom — Forever

With the thought that even in Carmel, flowers that bloom in the spring eventually wither, Miss Gretchen Wahl, chairman of the garden section of the Carmel Woman's Club will present Mrs. Judith King as next Monday afternoon's speaker.

Mrs. King's topic will be "Spring Fancies" and she will demonstrate the making and use of artificial flowers. Her do-it-yourself long lasting decorations have special appeal to decorators and hostesses who like variety and change in every room in the house.

The 2 o'clock meeting will be followed by tea, served by Mrs. Raymond Mapstead and her assistants, Mrs. Clifton H. Beckwith, Mrs. W. F. Vestal, Mrs. Allen B. Viking, Mrs. Harry Lee Beshore and Mrs. Arrigo M. Young.

One of the few remaining cigar store Indians in the country is in Colusa, Calif.; it is named Chief Colus, for the Colus tribe of Indians which inhabited the area prior to 1850.

What Can A Man Do?

"What can a man do—in order to be human?" is the title, and the question posed by Milton Mayer's just-off-the-press book (University of Chicago Press, $5).

We have in our midst a controversial man, and this collection of articles, essays, reflections and biographical sketches will not lessen the controversy. Seemingly easily written, and certainly easily read, the chapters in this book are witty, personal, sensitive, and provocative. The reader will muse, laugh, find a well-turned phrase which expresses some of his own half-formed opinions, or—violently disagree. But remain indifferent, no. Mayer is a "gadfly" for "sacred cows" of all types, which is far, far from being a bad thing. This is a book to be read, pondered on, lent, and discussed with friends of like and unlike mind. As Mayer himself says: "Perversity, or cussedness, can come in useful in this life. —While perversity, unlike flattery, will get you nowhere, it does keep you from believing what you read, or write, in the newspapers."

So if perchance you "don't believe" what you are reading now, or even if you do, the autograph-party which will be held at the "Bookworm" Book Shop, Dolores between 5th and 6th, on Tuesday, May 26th from 3 to 6 p.m. will give you an opportunity to meet and talk with the man who poses these questions. —C.T.

New Theater To Be Built In Carmel Valley

By Chris Milo

Carmel Valley's White Oaks Theater's new building will open this summer, according to the latest architect's report.

A non-profit educational and cultural corporation, White Oaks was originally founded in 1959 by Sally Hughes Church, and has been operating for five years in a rented barn converted into a workable theater seating 130.

Needing and wanting to find or build a more permanent base for its ambitious program, the troupe purchased land this winter upon which White Oaks could begin working towards its dream of a complete training center for the performing arts.

First to be built will be the new theater, plus two additional smaller buildings which will house offices, technical work, and storage areas. Eventually, housing for 32 students, dining facilities and classrooms will be added, plus quarters for the permanent staff.

When the architectural firm of Del Campo and Clark was asked to design the theater, White Oaks wanted to avoid the limitations imposed by constructing a permanent stage. Therefore, the interior of the new theater will be a completely empty 60 by 60 foot square with a second story projection booth in one corner.

Moveable light-weight platforms for both the stage and audience will be added. This enables a director to choose one of six different stages for his production (proscenium, projected proscenium, corner, ramp, Shakespearean, or arena). The use of approximately one hundred feet of drapes at all times will create the stage, wing space, and add color to the overall design. Seating will range from 225 to 400.

The overall aim of White Oaks is two-fold: to contribute to musical theater and offer experience training to young people through performances and classes. Young people between the ages of 20 and 30 who are aiming toward a career in theater will be contracted for a year's study. During the winter months, this group will present six shows, four two Children's Theater productions, and further their study of acting, dance, and voice in classes.

This summer the 20 members of the resident company will perform in "The Boy Friend," "The Three Penny Opera," "Pajama Game," Menotti's "The Unicorn, Manticore, and Gorgon," together with Stravinsky's "The Soldier's Tale" (L'Histoire du Soldat); and "Rumpelstiltskin" for children. In addition, five chamber music concerts will be given on Wednesday nights.

● Arthur Porter, known locally as a reader at the Christian Science Church in Carmel, and over the radio a few years ago on Holman's book department program, called "Arthur Porter Reads," will read "The Snow Goose" by Paul Gallico at the Carmel Foundation Town House at 3 p.m. on Wednesday, May 27. All interested are invited to the program and to tea which follows.

Rice was first successfully raised in North America about 1680.

CANDLES

Tall irises reflect the glowing dawn
In iridescent light. Slim buds reborn
Since yesterday enslave each sense anew
With beauty, wrought in tapestry of blue.
Incense in clouds veils Gothic arches, high
In dim cathedrals hung against the sky:
But subtler far, the perfume damp and cool
From iris censers swinging by the pool
Wide branched like sacred candles, sevenfold
That gleam on alien altars, dark and old,
Yet formed of living green, frail stems entwine:
Through alchemy, my garden is a shrine.

Each spring miraculously finds them there,
Like candles, made to light men's souls to prayer.
DOROTHY LUKE
Carmel.

DUALITY

We condemn and mourn the duality of man,
As evidenced in his spirit, heart and mind,
For we find that a human being, in one span,
Is cruel and avaricious, good and kind.
He wages war with all the assembled powers
That knowledge, science and wisdom can afford,
And then spends patient and unending hours
Healing his wounds and trying to win accord.

But if the weathers of his planet show
This contrast in expressiveness and form,
Fire that, burning dross, lays cities low,
And water, bringing rain and ruinous storm,
Can we expect man to be otherwise,
Akin to the elements of earth and skies?

LORE PETRI
Novato, California.

THE DESSERT SCULPTOR

The wind knows the waves he carves cannot float
Canoes, water-skiers, or a large motor boat.
He knows graceful fish fins will not be fanned
In the deeply ridged ripples of wayward sand.

The wind will not harm the desert above
The Gila monster, rattlesnake or toad.
And the loneliest thing in the tall, dry sky
Is the lone, golden eagle flying that high.

NONEE NOLAN
Elsinore, California.

THE LOSER

You were my sun and moon and stars —
A haven of rest in a world of storm.
Just being near you was heaven on earth.
You were tender and strong — you were real and warm;
But it takes more than wishing to make a thing right.
It takes more than trying — I wish I knew why!
Our love was so right, but it never could be,
And, being adults, we said our goodbye.

Now it's back to reality once again —
Down from the heights to a cold, lonely place.
The mornings are cloudy, the evenings are bleak,
And the nights are a terror I just can't face.
So I laugh and I sing; I drink and I dance;
I dress myself up and I try hard to please.
But what nobody knows is that deep down inside
I'm living, each second, with my memories!

MAGGI MOORE

DARK SEA

Upon stark boulders
The sea pounces, a leopard,
Wild and hunger-crazed.

LUCIA TRENT
Austin, Texas.

AND I THOUGHT I'D FOUND HIM . . .

When I was alone in a clearing, feeling decidedly lost,
I spied someone turning the pages of a wonderful volume by Frost.

I knew at the moment I saw him, that this was the man
for me;

He was communing with poems and nature, while his back was held up by a tree.

I stepped nearer to make him aware, myself to introduce,
But my newly found lover I could not away from Frost induce.

He looked up as if in anger, for I had broken his spell;
And when all I had wanted was sharing, he looked up and said "Go to Hell!"

Which just goes to prove that nobody should interrupt poetry lovers in a wood — that way you don't even get to be friends!

IN THE COMMUNITY ROOM

CORMORANT

Child of the storm, your poignant cry
Echoes across the cloud-banked sky;
As strong wings soar
In an arc of flight
Over the lashing billow's might.
Three sharp notes float downwind to me
From the fastness of cloudland imperaty.
What is the warning your shrill call brings
From the depths of the tempest's whimperings;
What, the sadness of your wild plea,
That seems to call to the restless sea
A portent of fear and urgency?
Are the elements, too, in conflict, then,
As the soul of man in his regimen?

GRACE R. BALLARD
Santa Barbara, California.

MORNING MIST

The broad fantastic curtains of pale gray,
Ethereal and thick, obscure the day.
A rare perfume pervades the air,
With eerie silence everywhere.
The trees like dim, dark statues stand.
Weird beauty lies upon the land;
A thousand songbirds now sing clear sweet trills,
The echo comes back from the distant hills.
The sun smiles down with face of gleaming gold,
And draws mist curtains upon cords of gold.

AURA OF GOLD

There's an aura of Gold in Springtime,

Sundrops are falling on hillsides,
Forsythia bursts in blaze of light.
Butter-buds melt on the birch twigs,
Accacias are powdering grasses with gilt,
Yellow stars shine on the jasmine.

There's an aura of gold in Springtime.

FOG MOON

There curves a soothing shepherdess above hot hills of sleep, and she calls wind to gather in her sheep.

Now night stirs, heat is lifting light,
and life may hush to rest
where wisps of sheep drift gently down the west.

Soon her soft flock lies quilted close,
the good moon silvering sheep that heard her call and cooled the hills of sleep.

WHAT HAPPENS IN MAY

A weaver wove a silvery trap beneath the old moon's smile, Then dew drops fell to deck the threads with beads in single file.

At noon when toads and lizards lag, and jays have sought the shade,

The hopper crouches in the sand, reposing, unafraid.
All thru the humid afternoon, nor hawk nor cloud afloat,
The mocking bird would hardly mock for pressure on his throat.

But May put up her tent and called: "Come hide you
out of sight,
Since twilight creeps with fading grace to taper
into night."

BEN PHILLIPS
Seaside, California.

SPACE JET

Under the life giving sun,
Where is a ladder
Tall enough to look over
And see what is new above?

Ancient Sculpture From India Soon at de Young Zyta Laky Exhibiting In San Francisco

Thirty tons of priceless Indian sculpture arrived in San Francisco aboard the S. S. President Hoover recently. This impressive selection of stone and terra cotta sculpture and pottery is part of an exhibit lent by the National Museum of India under the auspices of the Indian Ministry of Education, and will be seen for the first time in the Western Hemisphere at the de Young Memorial Museum in Golden Gate Park, May 29 through July 19.

The exhibition spans 5,000 years of Indian art and is sponsored here by the de Young Museum Society. It will be augmented by a selection of Indian miniature paintings from west coast collections, under the auspices of the Society for Asian Art.

This exhibit was originally assembled for a showing at the Tokyo National Museum. It represents the aesthetic and cultural development of a large segment of the world's population, and consists mostly of rare works never before shown here. Following its close at the de Young Museum July 19, the exhibit will be shown in four other museums before being returned to India: the Seattle Art Museum; the Cleveland Museum of Art; the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City, and the Honolulu Academy of Arts.

The de Young Museum is open from 10 to 5, seven days a week, and admission will be 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for students and children.

Olympic Star Will Perform Tonight

Donn Squire, 1960 Olympic swimmer and former Men's National AAU Synchronized Swim champion, will appear as a featured guest in "Off Broadway," Monterey Peninsula College swim-dance show set for tonight and tomorrow evening.

Squire will perform "Capriccio Espagnol," the solo he created for the Pan-American Games in 1963.

"Off Broadway" will begin at 8:15 on each of the two evenings at MPC's open-air pool. The college physical education department, in inviting the public to attend without charge, urges audience members to dress warmly.

Also featured with some 40 students from the synchronized swimming and modern dance classes will be Dewie Dutton, MPC folk singer.

Science Symposium

At U.S.N.P.G.S.

By James Chubb

If brainpower could be translated into terms of gold bullion, last night the Bali Room of the U.S. Naval Post Graduate School might easily have resembled another Fort Knox.

Gathered from all corners of the United States were eminent civilian and military scientists, assembled to hear a major address by Congressman George P. Miller, Chairman of the House Committee on Science and Astronautics. The subject of his address was: "Space Technology — A National Resource."

Last night's affair was part of a week-long symposium sponsored by the Office of Naval Research, covering such subjects as computer applications in environmental prediction, hydrodynamic problems in ship design, and prediction of underwater sound propagation.

Prior to Congressman Miller's address, Rear Admiral L. D. Coates, Chief of Naval Research presented the Navy Distinguished Civilian Service Award to Dr. Arthur E. Maxwell, Head of the Geophysics Branch, Office of Naval Research, and to Dr. F. Joachim Weyl, Deputy Chief and Chief Scientist of the Office of Naval Research. The Navy Distinguished Civilian Service Award is the highest honorary award which the Secretary of the Navy may confer upon a civilian employee.

Both men were cited for their selfless dedication and unstinting efforts in advancing science and technology in the Naval Establishment.

In an interview, Dr. Weyl stressed that thought their research programs were directed primarily toward military development, many discoveries eventually are put to use for the general welfare of the population.

CHS girls are busy practicing songleader and cheerleader routines. Next year, Carmel High will have six songleaders and four cheerleaders. Girls who are going to try out for cheerleader include Rita Belvail, Beverly Blout, Bev Brey, Kate Dalton, Tina Diedrichson, Marilyn Haber, Barbara Hudson, Wendy Knight, Robin Kvenild, Pam Martin, Dana Myers, Janet Sheingold, Terri Stegman, and Susie Tadlock.

Girls who are trying out for songleader include Kathy Bingham, Vicki Brinsmead, Susie Draper, Betty Haak, Marilyn Lane, Cathy Merz, Linda Myers, Felecia Noto, Patsy Porter, Jan Shively, Debby Smith, and Nancy Thompson.

These girls will try out in front of the entire student body. Each girl will perform a routine which she has made up herself. Each contestant will also perform a uniform routine song or cheer which the current squad has made for this purpose. Afterwards, the students will vote for the girls of their choice.

The Chameleon has gone to press! It is being printed by The Carmel Press, and is being sponsored by the Carmel Recreation Department. This year's Chameleon will contain short stories, essays, poetry, and artwork.

MPC Folk Program Draws "Rave" Review

Last Saturday evening this columnist attended a folk concert given by Stan Wilson and "Joe and Eddie" at the MPC Gymnasium. Prior to the concert I was not too familiar with any of the artists. Somehow they are not heard on the radio as often as many better-known performers. More's the pity indeed, since in talent they rank with the very best in their field today.

To say I was pleasantly surprised would be an understatement. The impact of Stan Wilson, who was first on the program, was very great indeed. Probably the best way to describe the man would be to say he had a magnificent stage presence. His delivery was robust and dynamic. He sang several of his own compositions, some of which were in humorous vein. His forte is undoubtedly Calypso styling. The audience, which seemed to be composed mainly of college students, was highly receptive to his easy, swinging style. He would be very welcome back if he should decide to return.

The team of Joe Gilbert and Eddie Brown, with their guitar accompanist Louie Shelton, was met by thunderous applause as they literally bounced on to the stage, almost as if they had started their first number in the wings. It's hard to put into words the complete verve with which these two boys drive through a song. The jubilant blending of their magnificent voices had the timbre of a church organ. Probably the most unique quality of their singing was in their phrasing. This was an intricate play of point and counterpoint of wording that was redolent with fine technical skill.

Here I must mention their guitarist, Louie Shelton, from Little Rock, Arkansas, a self-taught musician whose superb playing must surely be a great asset to the duo. Some day we may expect to hear him in concert and justly recognized in his own right as a master of the instrument and a real joy to listen to.

Eddie Brown's solo singing of "Willa Jean," a true blue blues, was really great. Joe Gilbert followed with his own rendition of the ballad, "Danny Boy," as sweetly as it has ever been sung. The contrast between their solo styling and the manner in which they belted out their gospel songs showed tremendous versatility.

On talking with the performers after the show I learned that Stan Wilson is a native of Oakland and has been traveling and singing his way from Australia to the West Indies with appearances in many of the better known nightspots for almost ten years. He is known to San Franciscans as one of the original entertainers at the hungry i.

Joe Gilbert and Eddie Brown began singing together at Willard Junior High, Berkeley, eight years ago. Following an appearance on Don Sherwood's San Francisco TV show, they hit the Purple Onion and the hungry i, and are now seasoned performers at the age of 21.

The concert which brought these fine entertainers was sponsored by the MPC Associated Students as a benefit, the proceeds of which went to the MPC John F. Kennedy Memorial Student Fund. A really fine concert for a really fine cause. We hope they have more of them. —T.P.

Ever popular comedienne, Ruth McElroy and Betty Fowlston, return to the Studio Theater in "Fallen Angels" which has its opening here Friday night for a limited run only.

Gilbert and Sullivan's 'Patience' Here May 29 Stevenson Players Will Present Romeo and Juliet 'Fallen Angels' Comedy Opens Friday at Studio

The rollicking rhymes and luring melodies of Gilbert and Sullivan will return to the Golden Bough Circle Theater on May 29 with the opening of "Patience, or Bunthorne's Bride." This "musical comedy" of the 1880's is under the direction of Ted Huffman, who has previously staged "Iolanthe," "Trial By Jury," "Amahl and the Night Visitors," and "The Beggar's Opera" for the Circle. "Patience" is scheduled to run on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings through July 12. There will be no matinee performances.

A perennial favorite with Anglophiles everywhere, the story of Bunthorne's Bride pokes fun at the aesthetic fads which swept England (and America) at the close of the Victorian era. Oscar Wilde, Algernon Swinburne, James Mac-Neil Whistler and the pre-Raphaelites were all well-known targets for Gilbert's satire. It is reported that a tour of America by Wilde caused an upsurge in ticket sales for "Patience," which was playing in New York at the time.

Many of the tunes from "Patience" have remained popular throughout the 80 years since they were written. Among these are "Twenty Love-Sick Maidens We," "I Cannot Tell What This Love May Be," "The Soldiers of Our Queen," "Prithee, Pretty Maiden," "Silvered is The Raven Hair," "The Magnet and The Churn," and "When I Go Out of Door." The comic figure of the long-haired poet, Bunthorne, decked out in velvet and lace as he "walks down Piccadilly with a poppy or a lily" in his hand, has been a vehicle for some of the greatest clowns in the Gilbert and Sullivan tradition including the inimitable Martyn Greene.

Frederick Schaad will provide piano accompaniment for the production, which will be costumed by Merle Huffman. Elaborate decor for the arena stage has been designed by the director, who performed the same assignment earlier this year for the Circle's production of "Misalliance."

A major social as well as theatrical event of the week-end will be two performances of "Romeo and Juliet" tomorrow and Sunday evenings in Reid Hall of the Robert Louis Stevenson School in Pebble Beach.

Twenty of the school's students, with Miss Anne Penoyer of Santa Catalina School for Girls as Juliet, have been professionally directed in the Shakespearean drama by Margrit Roma, actress and director of her own theater in southern California. Miss Roma is Mrs. Clarence L. Ricklefs in private life and is here with her husband who is currently teaching English literature in the Robert Louis Stevenson School.

Last Sunday the entire cast went to Berkeley where their performance of Romeo and Juliet was taped by K.P.F.A. to be rebroadcast in this area later this summer.

Adults giving the young players an assist on the stage will be Mrs. Georgette Kelley, Mrs. Gertrude Chappell and Clarence Ricklefs.

Tickets for both performances will be sold at the door.

Large Type Encyclopedia Set Donated To Library

Mrs. Floyd Harber, of Carmel, has just presented a special set of the World Book encyclopedia printed in large type to the Harrison Memorial Library, according to an announcement made by Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Chief Librarian. Mrs. Harber won the set as an award for superior salesmanship as a World Book representative.

Field Enterprises, Inc., publishers of World Book, are pioneering the large type encyclopedia, designed for those with sight difficulties. Mrs. Harber decided to present the set, valued at over $250, to the Carmel Library because she felt that a large number of patrons would find it of lasting value.

The library is buying a special truck to hold the large, 30-volume set, which will be kept in the main reading room.

The Studio Restaurant-Theatre announces the opening of "Fallen Angels," Noel Coward's sophisticated romp. Under the direction of Charles Thomas and with scenic design by Ruth Jordan Allan this laugh riot is a revival of last year's hit at the Studio. Back recreating the roles of the two happily married women eagerly awaiting the return of an old lover are Betty Fowlston and Ruth McElroy.

Virginia Beattie as the ubiquitous maid Saunders; Clifford Anderson and Bertrand D'Avenas are happily repeating their roles from the previous production. Bill Cano is a new addition to the present production.

"Fallen Angels" opens Friday, May 22 and plays every Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Curtain time is 8:30. This production has a limited return engagement of only five weekends.

Register Now For Girl Scout Summer Camp

Registrations are open through the end of May for Girl Scout established camps, Cawatre and Loma, and all registrations should be sent to the Monterey Bay Girl Scout Council, P. O. Box 1244, Monterey, California.

Each 14-day session at Camp Cawatre in Arroyo Seco, and Camp Loma in the Santa Cruz Mountains, offers semi-primitive living in the out-of-doors, waterfront activities, dancing, the arts, creative crafts and singing and hiking.

A special interest program being offered for the first time at Camp Cawatre is the Burro Pack Trip. Ten of the 14 days will be spent "on the trail" with the burros packing the food and the girls packing their personal gear. Girls eligible for this trip must be entering seventh grade or higher.

Girls who will be in Junior, Cadette or Senior troops in the fall are eligible to attend established camp. Applications of non-Girl Scouts, who have at least completed the fourth grade, will be given consideration. A registered nurse and a water safety instructor are present on the camp sites.

Day Camp opportunities are many. Because of our recent consolidation of councils, seven-day camps are now available with each offering a 'Special Interest' program for older girls in addition to the hikes, trips, handicrafts, singing and nature study. The 'Special Interest' program includes painting and drawing for girls who would like to learn or already enjoy expressing themselves in this media, and camping-by-bicycle which is done by unit or "troop sized group." Each girl would be required to supply her own bicycle. Those who wish to sign up for 'Special Interest' groups must so indicate on the Day Camp registration card. One adult from each troop must be registered before girls registering from that troop will be accepted. Campers will be transported to camp each morning and returned each afternoon by bus. Day Camps located in District II are Piney Hill at Monterey, to be in session

"Question of Loyalty" Subject of Lay Sermon

"A Question of Loyalty" is the title of the talk to be given by Ed Larsh during the regular morning services of the Church in the Round, Sunday, May 24, at 10:02. He is the first of a group of community leaders who will give "lay sermons" during the two-month absence of the Rev. Karl V. it, regular minister of the church.

An instructor in international relations and problems in democracy at Monterey High School, Ed Larsh is well known in our community. One of his many activities has been co-leadership of the Great Books discussion groups at Monterey Peninsula College. Educated at Colorado Western, Stanford University, University of Vienna, and Zurich University, he was a recent summer lecturer at the Ecole d'Humanite in Switzerland.

Following the talk, coffee and home-made pastry will be served, and then there will be a "talk-back," which will give the audience an opportunity to ask Ed Larsh questions, discuss further any particular points, or air their own views.

Dolores Street Has New Men's Shop "Oxbridge"

"Oxbridge," a mens wear shop, presenting status merchandise, will open its doors this week-end, on Dolores between Ocean and Sixth.

Owner Helmi Voskay has an unusual background in merchandising and teaching. He is instructor in Turkish at the U. S. Defense Language Institute, Monterey, and has been a resident of Carmel for several years. He was for a period associated with Howard Brunn in the management of the Bruhn's Men's Shop in Pine Inn, and the Mark Fenwick Shop in Carmel Plaza.

Associate and manager of "Oxbridge" is Jay Newmark.

Visitors will find "Oxbridge" a spot to remember, with its solid oak cabinetry, designed by Helmi and crafted by Tom Broadbent. The decor is at once sophisticated and in the Carmel tradition, which may sound contradictory, but go in and see for yourself.

The Kramer sodium borate deposit in the Mojave Desert, the world's largest known deposit of crystalline sodium borate, was discovered in 1925.

Awards Highlight Cub Pack 48 Meeting

The industry of the cubs of Pack 48, sponsored by All Saints' Episcopal Church in Carmel, was evidenced in the displays and demonstration of the six dens last Thursday.

This month's theme is Indian lore. Models of Pueblo and Plains Indian villages; Indian tools; an Indian Rain dance; a bow and arrow shoot; a story in picture writing; and a sand painting were presented to the cubs and their parents by Committeemen Willis Shepard and Paul Rogers.

Cubmaster F. K. Duhring presented Bobcat pins to Stan Canham and John Criddle, and introduced Cubscout Dick Hinwood, a new member of the Pack. John Duhring and Charles Schetter received the Arrow of Light award, the highest award in Cubscouting.

Receiving achievement awards were: Wolf badge — Bill Davies; Bear badge — Peter Hill, Steve Foley, Steven Layton, Dick Monroe, Dave Wiesenfeld, and Doug Hatton;

Lion badge—Jeremy Street; Webelos patch — Jeremy Street and Frank DiGirolamo; Silver Arrows —Ray Baumann, Fred Hrusa, John Toldi, James Monroe, Chris Hrusa, Kimball Banker (5), Rick Hopelain, Eric Whitmore, Steve Layton, Dick Monroe, and George Bucquet. Gold Arrows went to Fred Hrusa, Kimball Banker, Eric Whitmore, Steven Layton and Dick Monroe.

Cinderella Lives Again In Girl Scout Play Here

By Grey Zimmerman
Carmel Girl Scout

On May 13, a small drama group consisting of six girls, presented a play based on the well known fairytale, Cinderella. The director was Mrs. Webster Street. The group was formed from members of Girl Scout Troop 2063.

Cinderella was played by Ginny Smith, and the prince and step-mother by Grey Zimmerman. The two step-sisters were Alesa Smith and Rosanne Smith. (These two are not sisters!) Debbie Street was the butler, and the page and god-mother were played by Brooks Bennett.

The costume department was run by Alesa and Ginny Smith, while the scenery was made by Grey Zimmerman. Props were done by Brooks Bennett. The curtains and stage were in charge of Debbie Street and Rosanne Smith.

Two troops made up the audience for the play. Mrs. Hayes' Troop 2118, and Mrs. Hugh Smith's Troop 2063. Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Abersold are the leaders of Troop 2118. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Miller are the leaders of Troop 2063.

The play was a big hit, and Mrs. Street is to be thanked for giving all her efforts and time for the group production.

Russian Chorus Sings At Symphony Guild Tea

The Monterey County Symphony Guild held its final meeting of the season on Tuesday at the Robert Louis Stevenson School in Pebble Beach and it was indeed a gala affair.

At the short business meeting that preceded the top-flight entertainment, outgoing president Mrs. Frank G. Ringland relinquished her chair to Mrs. James D. Niebel, Jr. Tribute was paid Mrs.

Ringland for her accomplishment through a year crowded with Guild activities.

Officers for the coming year include: Mrs. Carl Menneken; second vice-president, Mrs. George E. Fletcher; recording secretary, Mrs. Philip C. Smith; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Steven Sassoon; treasurer, Miss Genevieve Gehres and assistant treasurer, Mrs. James B. Moore.

Professor Nicholas Vorobiev, Russian instructor of the U.S. Defense Language Institute, presented the school's Russian chorus of 100 voices with Elizabeth Littlepage in an all too short program that was followed by soprano soloist Norma Jean Hodges. Miss Hodges, widely known as an accomplished vocalist, was accompanied by Miss Camille Olita.

Mrs. Richard Long, wife of the D.L.I. commandant, headed the Symphony Guild members presiding at the tea tables.

An honor guest of the afternoon was Symphony director-conductor, John Gosling.

Nathaniel Owings, Anne Penoyer and Efrem Zimbalist III who will appear in the Robert Louis Stevenson School production of "Romeo and Juliet" this week end. —Graham Studio Photo

A NEW HOME — OUR PLEASURE AND PRIDE

In a new home, built for an executive family, what are the things that make the Big Difference and cause us to say this is the finest new home we have offered in several years? We believe the difference lies in the quality of the construction, the perfection of the floor plan, the use of new and interesting materials, and the care with which the millwork was finished and the house decorated. The owner built this for his own family, whose plans have suddenly changed. Now a buyer will have all the advantages of the extra quality and extra care with which this home was planned and constructed. Here are the facts:

- Approx. 4,000 sq. ft. with ocean and/or mountain views all rooms.
- 4 bedrooms, 4 baths, plus an unfinished room.
- Spacious, gracious and elegant living room with fireplace of imported white stone.
- Formal dining room with lovely Czechoslovakian crystal chandelier.
- a "House Beautiful" kitchen with furniture-finish cabinets.
- Separate breakfast room.
- 248 square yards of very beautiful carpeting.
- Balconies around all southeast and south exposures to take full advantage of the sunny location and exquisite views.

The price is $82,500. We would be delighted to show it to you.

"Heir of all

The ages I . . . "

Our illustrious city auditor, Art Plaxton, has long waited for the day when he might be named an heir of some distant deceased kin. He entertained visions of becoming the Baron of Bostlewaithe, or maybe the Earl of Tewkbridge. Visions of chauffeured autos and 60-foot yachts danced through his imagination.

The great day arrived last week. Art received a letter from Cameron and Cameron, barristers, solicitors and notaries, etc., in Victoria, British Columbia. The letter read as follows:

Dear Sir:

Re: Estate of Charles Plaxton and Hattie Plaxton

After several years of negotiations with Marconi Company, we have finally managed to get the few shares of the Marconi Company transferred from the Estate of William Plaxton and Hattie Plaxton into the name of the Executors of Hattie Plaxton and the shares subsequently sold.

Following is a statement in respect of the sale of the shares.

Selling price of shares	144.93
Accumulated dividends	14.08
Total	159.01

As you may realize there being considerable costs in connection with this matter which are out of all proportion to the value of the shares and after consultation with Mrs. Doris Plaxton we have arranged to settle our fees at $59.01 (including disbursements of obtaining copies of probate of the Estate of Charles Plaxton and Hattie Plaxton). This leaves $100 for distribution amongst the beneficiaries of the Estate namely $20 each to A. Plaxton son of George Plaxton, Charles Plaxton, Frank Plaxton, and Doris Plaxton (wife of Nairne Plaxton) and $10 each to Nairne Edward Plaxton and Norah Plaxton. We accordingly request that you sign the enclosed receipt, return to us, and we will forward cheque when all receipts have been obtained.

We are not bothering in obtaining any formal releases as the cost involved would be far in excess of the amount to be distributed.

Yours very truly,
Cameron & Cameron

Council Talks

for further study, to be ready for the June meeting.

The area plan came up for approval and drew comments from several leading citizens. Admiral C. W. Fisher said, "The existence of a plan is such a marked step, regardless of little differences, that it should be adopted . . . It is merely a plan. It must be implemented by ordinances."

Stuyvesant Fish pointed out that everyone is in favor of greenbelt, but said that he would be "appreciative of forewarning when there are meetings which concern us."

Emilio Odello said he felt the planning commission should grant he and his brother the consideration of discussing the planning of the Odello land with the brothers. He also pointed out that "Greenbelt is a matter of economics. We would like to be there 50 years from now, but who knows what may happen before then."

The plan was adopted by the council, which then went on to approve a request that Dennis Rowedder be permitted to build a bridge across a canyon to a carport.

Mayor Blanks then named former councilman Frank Putnam to head the Sunset Committee.

WEEK!

What's doing?

Meet Don McCormick, Central Office Chief Equipment Man

Don is one of the 103 Monterey Peninsula telephone employees participating in the current U.S. Savings Bond drive through our company's payroll savings plan.

The three-fold aim of "Operation Security", as the drive is known, is to—

1. Give every American a fresh look at an attractive savings opportunity.
2. Dramatize anew the facts about Savings Bonds and what they do for their owners and America.
3. Point out a practical and profitable way to serve our country.

For further information on how you can share in this worthwhile endeavor, please contact your bank or talk to your employer.

WHAT TO DO IF ANYTHING EVER GOES WRONG WITH YOUR TELEPHONE.

Your telephone is built to take it. It has only one reason for being and that's to give you dependable, trouble-free service year after year after year. But, if anything should go wrong we'll gladly fix it without extra charge. In the Monterey Peninsula Area, all you have to do is Dial 114, for "Repair Service." Often, we can take care of the problem from our telephone central office. If necessary, we'll send someone out. Whatever the case, you'll never get a bill for repairs. This is one of the values that go with your service.

"And we all feel confident that we have chosen the best," Raggett concluded.
